

Suicide Loss Survivor Support Group

Have you lost a friend or family member to suicide?
Do you know someone who is struggling because of a suicide loss?

Jewish Family & Children's Service (JF&CS), in partnership with Combined Jewish Philanthropies (CJP), is now offering a support group for suicide loss survivors.

Our goal is to provide suicide loss survivors with a safe, supportive and judgement free environment where they can express themselves, find comfort, hope and resources with others confronting the pain and loss of a suicide.

Facilitators have been trained by Samaritans of Boston and bring relevant professional and personal experience in the Jewish community to provide healing support in a safe space.

For more information, please contact Marjorie Sokoll at msokoll@jfcsboston.org or 781-693-5619 to learn about the group and discuss how we can be of assistance to you.

Meetings are held virtually twice a month from 6:30 – 7:30 p.m.

There is no cost to attend.

About the Facilitators

Marjorie U. Sokoll, M.Ed. is the founding director of the JF&CS Betty Ann Greenbaum Miller Center for Jewish Healing, which offers individuals and families support when facing the challenges of illness, loss, or isolation. Marjorie has presented locally and nationally on healing, end-of-life, and bereavement. She earned degrees in sociology, counseling, social work, and a certificate of thanatology from the National Center for Death Education.

Rabbi Suzanne Offit, BCC (Board Certified Chaplain) brings many years of experience as a community rabbi and as a palliative care chaplain in the hospital setting. Rabbi Offit works closely with patients and families in times of crisis offering support, calm, hope and a safe space for reflection and transformation.

JF&CS is grateful for the support of Combined Jewish Philanthropies (CJP).
